He beautifully articulated how active participation in social welfare builds a student's core personality, instills powerful leadership attributes, and fosters essential humanitarian traits.

Mr. Kartik Chandra Acharya: In his speech, Mr. Acharya shared the historical trajectory of the institution. He expressed strong confidence that the newly formed NSS Unit will carrying forward this rich legacy of altruistic service.

Sri Ramaranjan Das & Sri Basudeb Bera: The esteemed faculty members contributed valuable perspectives on the organizational framework of the unit. They argued that the true essence of the NSS goes far beyond merely executing routine welfare tasks. Rather, it serves as a transformative system designed to train students to stand firmly by those in distress, handle emergencies with leadership, and catalyze radical, structural reforms within the broader layers of society.

Dr. Siddhartha Shankar Mishra (Presidential Address): Concluding the addresses, the Principal offered a profound and poetic roadmap for the unit.
